NO SMOKING

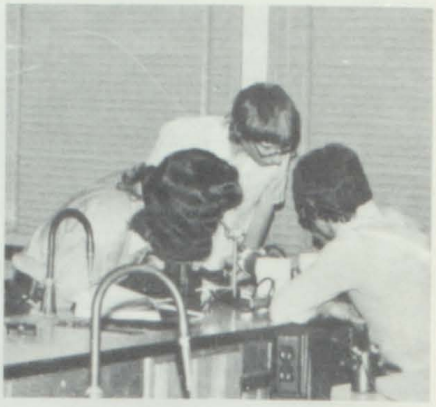

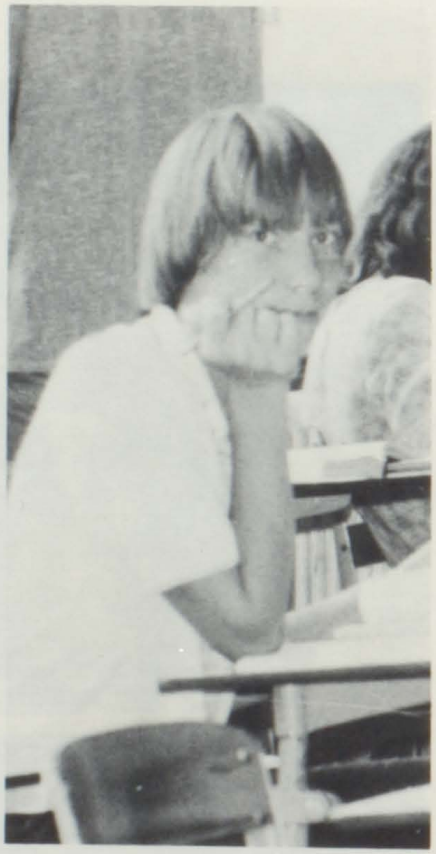

A PECULIAR JOURNEY

High School is . . .
growth, from rebellion to acceptance knowledge, and noisy study halls happiness, and frustration close friends, and gossip victory, and defeat

In short, every student can't wait to get out . . .
And yet,
The graduates return . . .
with misty eyes.

SENIORS . . .

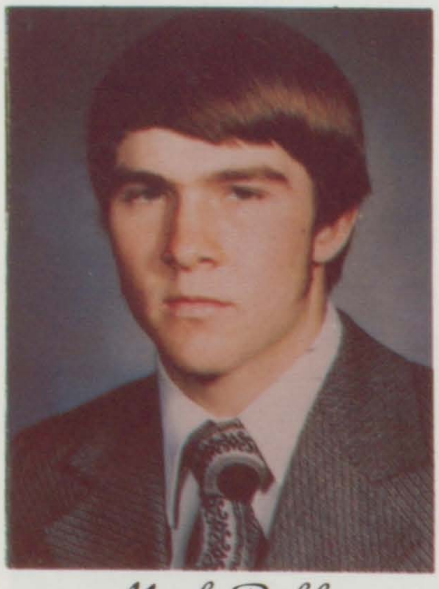

With the final year progressing, the seniors waited patiently for graduation. "Seventy-Seven" seemed to pass quickly for most of the class. The faculty and administration appeared to be more human, (and in the eyes of the faculty, the seniors did too). It wasn't that the seniors didn't goof off; after twelve years, they finally learned how to get away with it. The seniors worked for a student lounge, and were happy to have a room after midyear. It housed some serious study, miniature golf, and a blackboard graffiti. The many activities of high school kept the senior class busy after school hours.

FACULTY BUILDS CHARACTER

The faculty attempted to make school an experience where the students would learn how to live outside the high school walls and also instruction on college level for seniors. They put in many hours by acting as chaperones and class advisors.

1977 Redbird [High School Annual, Ellendale North Dakota]

With the arrival of spring and the end of the school year, young scholars turn their minds to different subjects.

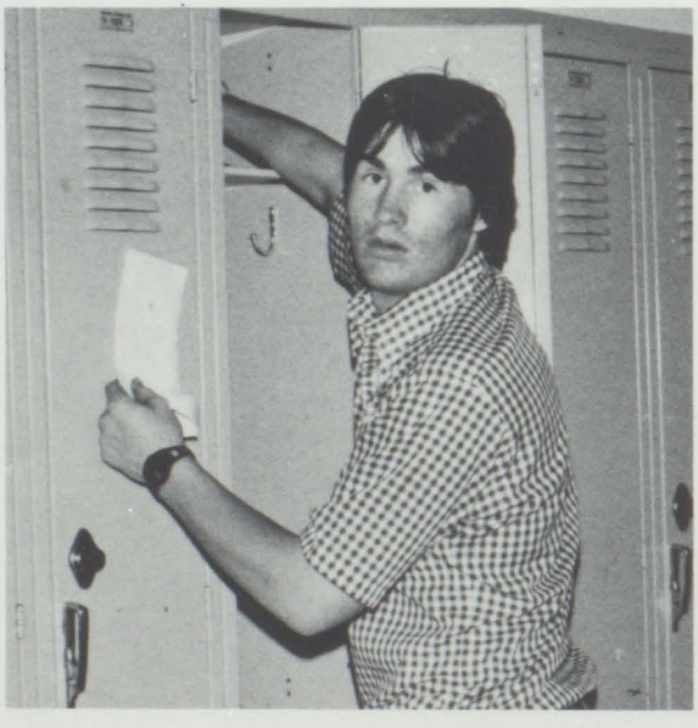

1977 Redbird [High School Annual, Ellendale North Dakota]

As spring continues and school is about over, we clean out our lockers and wave good-bye to everybody until fall; except for the 32 seniors. We will no longer come back to the school that is always shined up in the fall. The graduating class of ''77'' is moving on to bigger and better things and say ''we are glad to be leaving this place,'' but deep down we are going to miss it. After all, we have had a great time!
